

53' Selene Pilothouse

“Watermark”

Since its introduction in 2002, the Selene 53 has risen to be the most popular model in the Selene range. It's easy to see why, with a powerful combination of live-aboard comfort and excellent long range cruising for a couple and their guests.

With no less than eight different living areas to choose from, including three staterooms, two heads both with separate shower stalls, a galley that's integral with the salon, and a spacious flybridge that'll be the envy of everyone on the dock, the Selene 53 is a comfortable home afloat. Yet it can still be handled easily and safely by a couple, thanks to the secure walk around decks and Portuguese bridge, two steering stations, and bow and stern thruster.

Like all Selene Ocean Trawlers, at its heart, the Selene 53 is a serious long range cruiser. Howard Chen, the designer and builder explains, "the hull form of the Selene 53 has a hard chine in the aft sections to reduce roll, but this merges into the traditional displacement boat's round bilges by the mid sections, giving the Selene 53 its impressive range of 2,000+nm and an economical cruise speed of 10kts."
